PARTNERCARE ANNOUNCES AFFILIATION WITH AXIS SPINE AND PAIN

Tampa, Fla. — PartnerCare, a portfolio company of private equity firm Shore Capital Partners, announces its affiliation with Axis Spine and Pain. Axis Spine and Pain offers minimally invasive treatment options for patients in Macon, Dublin, and Warner Robins, Georgia. Patients suffering from back, neck, or knee pain, or those with an underlying condition such as arthritis can find individualized, patient-centered care plans from a multidisciplinary team of board-certified physicians with expertise in treating pain management.

Axis Spine and Pain's mission is to provide superior pain management care for patients in their community suffering from chronic pain by utilizing outcome-based treatments, including nerve blocks to diagnose pain, responsible medication management, and minimally invasive pain management techniques. Patients with chronic pain can depend on the expert team to fully evaluate their condition and develop a treatment plan that works for them.

PartnerCare will continue to expand across the region and marketplace by investing in people and providing operational, financial, and information technology (IT) support to affiliated practices while establishing a culture that allows physicians to focus on clinical excellence and serving patients in their communities. PartnerCare will pursue affiliations with independent interventional pain management and musculoskeletal practices to build a premier network of health care team members and affiliates.

Eric Worthan, Chief Executive Officer of PartnerCare, said, "I am excited about the latest addition to our growing family of partners. PartnerCare is fortunate to welcome Axis Spine and Pain's robust, multidisciplinary team of specialists and care providers."
